

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF CHURCH PERSONNEL ADMINISTRATORS PRESENTS LEADERSHIP AWARD TO REGINA MCCURDY THE ARCHDIOCESE OF BALTIMORE

Alexandria, Va. -- Regina McCurdy, senior employee relations manager, the Archdiocese of Baltimore, received the 2018 Board Leadership Award from the National Association of Church Personnel Administrators (NACPA) during the association's 47th annual convocation in Niagara Falls. The award was presented to Ms. McCurdy on April 24.

The NACPA Leadership Award celebrates NACPA members who have demonstrated exemplary leadership on behalf of just treatment in the Church. This year's recipient, Regina McCurdy, has consistently provided outstanding leadership, guidance and service to those serving in the pastoral center in the Archdiocese of Baltimore as well as pastors and principals.

According to Regina Haney, Ed.D., executive director of NACPA, Ms. McCurdy consistently works to create a fair and just work environment for all employees in the archdiocese. She also provides classes for seminarians at Saint Mary's Seminary and University and Mount St. Mary Seminary and teaches at McDaniel College.

Dr. Haney added, "Regina McCurdy is a true woman of faith whose congenial and enthusiastic spirit makes her a joy to encounter."

From its headquarters in Alexandria, Va., NACPA promotes leadership in human resources, finance and administration that models Gospel values, promoting justice in the workplace. The association strives to strengthen working relationships among Catholic diocesan, parish and school leaders, ministers and employees and to help develop Church personnel and human resource skills.
